Been Seen Since March 21.

Relatives of George Kimbrough, col., of Fairview, are fearful that he has been murdered, as he disappeared on March 21 and no trace has been had of him since. On March 20 he came here with a crop of tobacco for which he received about $800. He remained over in this city until the next day to settle some debts, but was thought to have started home walking. Since then all efforts to trace him have failed. He was said to be strictly temperate and methodical in his habits. His people are convinced harm has befallen him and have asked the police to help find him.

FACTIONS LINING UP.

Rufus H. Vansant, the Ashland capitalist, will be a candidate before the coming democratic state convention for the position of chairman of the democratic state central and executive committees. Col. Vansant formerly held this position in the party organization, but was ousted at the state convention last year, which was controlled by Governor Stanley. Col.
Vansant was aligned with United States Senator Beckham's faction.
His entrance into the ring indicates that the democrats will stage a battle
royal for control of the convention,
with Senator Beckham and the Louisville organization aligned against Governor Stanley and Senator James.

Just how the Haldeman-Woodson contest will adjust itself to these alignments remains to be seen.

CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT

New Move by Divorced Wife of E. G. Peterson of This City.

CITED TO ELKTON COURT

Failing to Pay $40 a Month
in Alimony For the Past Ten Months.

Elkton, Ky., March 29.—Acting on an affidavit filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Bernis M. Peterson, of Otsego county, New York, Judge John S. Rhea issued a rule against and a warrant for the arrest of Eric Gustavus Peterson, of Hopkinsville,
to appear before him next Monday and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in failing to pay Mrs. Peterson $40 a month alimony for the past ten months.

Mrs. Peterson states in her affidavit that she was nominally the plaintiff in a divorce suit in the Logan Circuit Court at its February term, 1914,
at which a judgment for divorce, alimony and the custody of their infant daughter, Jane Peterson, was awarded her; that Peterson was her husband and by fraud and collusion he procured the divorce and has since married Miss Louise Jones, of Hopkinsville, who is said to be the wealthiest person in Christian county, and worth $300,000.

She further claims in her affidavit
that Peterson is now making an effort to take advantage of the bankrupt laws for the purpose of defeating her in the collection of a claim for $8,000 due the estate of her dead mother for borrowed money.

A $100,000 damage suit was filed against Mrs. Louise Jones Peterson in the Christian Circuit Court a year ago for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. The case was settled out of court.

Washington, March 29.—A union
of the Methodist Episcopal church
and the Methodist Episcopal church,

Bishop Earl Cranston, speaking to members of the Baltimore conference
of the Methodist Episcopal church,
which opened its one hundred and thirty-second session here tonight
with a reception to the veteran bishop, who retires from active service in May.

"Unless Methodism has lost its saneness as well as its religion," Bishop Cranston said, "there is going to be a union of the two churches before 1920." He added that he looked for a reorganization of all followers of John Wesley in the United States and ultimately for a union of all Christian churches.

Rev. E. K. Hardin is a Washington

Frankfort, Ky., March 29.—While the selection of a commission to draft a revenue and taxation bill to reform
the entire tax system of the State is under consideration by Gov. Stanley,

ments, three members of the General Assembly are believed to be certain to be on it. They are Representative Reuben Hutchcraft, of Bourbon county; Senator Hiram Brock, of Harrison, and Representative J. A.
Oliver, of Allen county.

Representative Hutchcraft has evinced more active interest in the tax question during the last two sessions than any other member of the General Assembly. He is author of the graduated inheritance tax law and fathered two progressive measures, which did not pass. One of them would have given the State Board of Equalization authority to increase county assessments and send them back to the local boards for equalization as to individuals, with inquisitorial powers.

Senator Brock was minority leader in the Senate and Representative Oliver minority leader in the House.
Their selection will give the Republicans strong representation on the commission.

VILLA MAKES GET-AWAY

Believed to Have Eluded Pursuers and is 50 Miles Ahead.

HEADED TO SOUTH PASSES

Question of Supplies for Expeditionary Force Overshadows All Others.

El Paso, Tex., March 29.—Dispatches from the front interpreted in connection with news brought by Americans returning from different points in the interior of Chihuahua caused a belief here last night that Francisco Villa was headed for San Andres, about twenty-five miles southwest of Chihuahua City, a favorite headquarters of the bandit. He is thought to be already not less than fifty miles ahead of his pursuers and possibly leading the chase a much greater distance.

If Villa is able to effect a junction
with Reyes near Parral, the problem of his extermination will have become a serious one, as he then will be able to control several thousand soldiers, who, split into guerrilla bands, might be able to keep up a desultory mountain warfare for an unlimited period,
they point out.

The supplies question overshadows everything else now. Army officers here say that upon its solution depends every chance of a successful termination to the pursuit of the bandit.

A railroad accident south of Casas Grandes caused the first death in the American punitive expedition, according to official dispatches received. A message from General Pershing's
headquarters said that George A.
Hudnell, a negro soldier in Troop B,
Tenth cavalry, had been killed in a wreck.

The indictment was returned under section 1,844 of the Kentucky statutes making the fine for said offense from $500 to $5,000. The indictment was based upon an order
made by the fiscal court whereby it purchased eight road graders for the county, and allowed $400 to be expended on the roads in each district and then appointed themselves as supervisors of said road grading in their respective districts at a salary of $2 per day.

The members of the court are, F.
M. Davidson, H. S. Wheeler, T. A.
Yandell, L. N. Sisco, Charles T. Riley,
W. T. Terry, C. B. Woody and C. C.
Walker.

will be in the pens and outsiders have the privilege of making sales, for which a small fee will be charged.

Statements indicating that he believed he was possessed of a dual personality, the wicked one of which impelled him to murder John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, his wealthy father-in-law, and Mrs. Peck, were made by Dr. Arthur Warren Waite to District Attorney Edward Swann and a detective in New York, where Waite is held.

MANURE IMPROVES THE SOIL

Important, Especially in Garden Operations, That Fertilizer Be Rotted or Composted.

Manure adds plant food to the soil, and it also improves the texture or physical condition of the soil. This latter effect is often its greatest value. If one wants mere plant food alone, he may often do better to add it in some more concentrated form. It is important, especially in garden operations, that the manure be rotted or composted. This is accomplished by letting it decay in piles. The compost pile should be flat on top and from two to six feet high. Cow manure is the most desirable for garden or house plants. It does not burn or lose its strength, and may be kept for a number of years if piled under shelter, becoming more available each year. It mixes well with soil and leaf mold. When once rotted, this manure is very lasting and easily assimilated by plants.

A Covered Manure Shed.

STRIDES IN EGG PRODUCTION

Delaware Station Poultrymen Confronted With Hen Which Laid 314 Eggs In 365 Days.

Not very many years ago the 200-egg hen made her appearance. She was not greeted with open arms by poultrymen, but was rather considered to be a freak—an exceptional being that would not perpetuate her kind. Her cool reception, however, was no more than over before the 200-egg hen became a "common" occurrence. In the four Missouri egg-laying contests 249 hens (or 10%) laid 200 eggs or over. The individual record last year went to a Buff Wyandotte with 247; in the Connecticut contest, a Rhode Island Red laid 237 eggs in the same period.

But with the close of the Philadelphia-North American contest at the Delaware station poultrymen are confronted with a hen which laid 314 eggs in 365 days; Oregon hens have also produced over 300 eggs in a year. How is the 300-egg hen being received? Almost in the same way as was the 200-egg hen. Wonderful strides have been made and will be made to get high producers. But the real problem before poultrymen is to perpetuate the egg laying qualities which have been developed. The 300-egg hen may soon be classed in the same way that the 200-egg hen was classed a few years ago.

Poultrymen may well be proud of what they have accomplished, but they cannot rest satisfied until they perpetuate the desired qualities. And that takes years of experience and careful selection.—Orange Judd Farmer.

BRITISH AEROPLANES INFERIOR TO GERMANS

Member of House of Commons Tells of Casualties.

London, March 29.—Noel Pemberton-Billing, formerly of the royal naval air service, who was elected to the house of commons, recently on a platform calling for improvement of the company's aerial fighting forces, said in the house of commons that a series of casualties with a total of 150 dead, 150 wounded and 105 missing, was due to the sending up of British aviators in aeroplanes out-classed hopelessly by German machines.

Mr. Pemberton-Billing asserted German aeroplanes were immensely superior to British machines, notwithstanding that within twenty miles of London there could be obtained engineers better than those used by the Germans.

SHERIFF TO FILE TEST SUIT

Logan Would Force Auditor to Pay His Transportation Both Ways.

Madisonville, Ky., March 29.—Failure on the part of State Auditor Robert Greene, to allow Sheriff Tom Logan, of this city, transportation claims both ways for himself and deputies, in conveying prisoners to State institutions, will result in a test suit being filed in Circuit Court at Frankfort, the outcome of which will be watched with interest by every Sheriff in the State.

It has been the custom in the past

for the Sheriff to be allowed mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile both ways for conveying parties to these institutions, and the claims have always been allowed. At the close of the February term of court, Sheriff Logan and several deputies took prisoners to the different State institutions and his mileage claim was forwarded to Auditor Greene. When his check was received, mileage for only one way was allowed, which was claimed to be all the State was supposed to pay.

Sheriff Logan consulted local attorneys and was advised that the Auditor was in error; that the mileage should be paid both ways. He started to file suit, but referred the matter to the Sheriff's Association of the State, and he stated here that the suit would be filed by the association at once, in order that the matter might be fully tested in the courts.

A similar case came up with the Sheriff of Henderson county recently, it is understood.

NEWSPAPERS HIT BY WAR

Every Item in Publishers' List Up From Ten to Fifty Per Cent.

AND THE KITING GOES ON

War, Directly and Indirectly, is Given as Reason for the Enormous Increase.

New York, N. Y., March 29.—Ever since the momentous August of 1914—especially during the past six months—the skyrocketing of the prices of necessities around a newspaper plant has gone on with a beauty of consistency which arouses absolutely no enthusiasm among publishers throughout the country who have to foot the bills. Products essential to the publication of newspapers have jumped in price all the way from 10 or 15 to 3,000 and more per cent.

War, directly or indirectly, is given as the reason for the enormous increase in the publisher's bill. And as war seems likely to continue for some time, so, too, the market skyrocketing promises to go to heights even beyond the present astounding prices. Nowadays it is next to impossible to obtain market quotations for even so short a time ahead as "next week."

It should be remembered also that concrete instances of the high cost of publishing given here are the lowest prices obtainable, because the publisher buys in large bulk. He cannot cut in quantity.

Before the war, to start with, the important item of tons upon tons of metal used by the stereotyping and linotyping departments in a great metropolitan daily newspaper plant—the metal which is a composition of lead, tin and antimony—cost 8 1/4 cents a pound. A week ago today it cost 12 1/2 cents during the forenoon. In the afternoon the cost was 13 cents. A few days later last week it was boosted to 13 3/4 cents a pound and today it is 14 cents. And so the kiting goes on, the increase in cost alone amounting to thousands of dollars a year.

The various editions of newspapers cannot, to use a shop expression, be "put to bed" without blankets any more than humans can. And the newspaper presses must have the blankets in summer as well as winter—rubber blankets that are wrapped around the press rollers first; felt blankets and clean muslin bandaging covering rubber and felt, this padding being necessary directly under the fast moving paper if clean-cut printing is to obtain. Also, quantities of the ordinary army blankets must be bought and cut into given sizes for the stereotypers' use. The rubber and heavy felt blanketing, however, has been jumped at least 15 per cent. The cost of the army blanket has gone up 20 per cent., the quality of the army blankets at the same time going down.

Press rollers, which are made largely of glue, glycerine and molasses, have gone up, so manufacturers notified the consumers last week, 18 per cent.

Only last week paper, which was then eight per cent. higher than it was a year or so ago, jumped to a ten per cent. increase. No pulp is coming into the manufacturers. Mills that not so long ago were selling by the tons are now filling orders for pounds. Rags, which are being bought up by the powder manufacturers eagerly and are needed also by paper manufacturers in a clean and more or less sterilized form, are a necessity in the mechanical departments of newspapers. The price of rags has jumped just 100 per cent., or from three cents a pound to six cents. Writing paper is an important item in a publishing paper's bill, and it is worth noting that this item has gone up 25 per cent.

As an ink manufacturer explained a day or two ago, the acids and dyes and everything else used in the colored inks especially, have exploded from 300 to 3,000 per cent. in a jiffy, once the imports from Germany had been blocked. Blues that cost 58 cents before the war now cost $14 and $15 a pound, with increases in yellows also all the way up to 3,000 per cent. And, what is more of moment, the manufacturers of inks fear that prospects of filling demands in the future look doubtful.

Type foundries have increased prices 20 per cent. and no let-up in

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

the boosting is in sight. Gun arabic, necessary in the making of matrices in printing plants, has jumped 100 per cent. And wrapping paper, used in the circulation departments by the tons, cost twice as much as it did before the war, with wrapping rope of sisal from Yucatan and jute wrapping ropes and twines from Calcutta now selling at an increase almost as great.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

DATE SET FOR END OF WAR

November 11 of April 11 is the Prediction Recently Made by a "Soothsayer."

A soothsayer from Zagarabia, who wishes to remain unknown, has predicted the end of the great war to ward the end of the year, and he insists that peace will be concluded on November 11. His prediction is based on logical mathematical calculations which he says cannot fail, as proved by past experience of former wars.

In fact the same rule which enabled him to find out when this war is going to end works to perfection when applied to the last Napoleonic war and the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

The last war against Napoleon started in 1813 and ended in 1814. The soothsayer adds up these two years and divides the total, viz.: 3627, into two numbers of figures each, viz.: 36 and 27. Then adding the two figures of each number, viz.: 3 plus 6 equals 9, and 2 plus 7 equals 9, he gets the ninth day of the ninth month, viz.: September 9, the date when peace was signed.

The same result is obtained in the case of the Franco-Prussian war, begun in 1870 and ended in 1871. In fact, 1870 plus 1871 equals 3741, or 37 and 41, and 3 plus 7 equals 10, while 4 plus 1 equals 5, so that the date of peace was May 10.

Assuming that the present war ends this year then 1914 plus 1915 equals 3829, or 38 and 29; hence 3 plus 8 equals 11 and 2 plus 9 equals 11, and the result is November 11.

Supposing, however, the war lasts until 1916, then peace will be signed on April 11.

The soothsayer does not explain on what his prophecy that the war will end this year is based.—New York Sun.

CURIOUS LIZARD OF MAINE

Spotted Salamander Declared Not Uncommon, but Seldom Seen in Daylight.

Edward C. Pope of Manchester writes the Kennebec Journal as follows: "In your issue of May 15, under Maine Gossip, you tell of a curiosity . . . somewhat resembling an alligator . . . nine inches long, with bright yellow spots along its sides," found by Mr. Blanding of Great Pond.

This creature is a spotted salamander (Ambystoma punctatum) and is an amphibian, like the frogs, but is much more closely related to the newts or salamanders of our streams, commonly mis-called lizards.

The spotted salamander is not rare in this state, but is not often seen, because it is a night feeder, lying concealed in moist spots during the day. At this time of year it may be found in pools and puddles, at night, where it goes to deposit its eggs, which occur in roundish masses of transparent jelly, resembling frog spawn.

The young, when first hatched, swim freely in the water, and breathe by means of fringed gills on the sides of the head. When they have attained a length of two or three inches they begin to breathe by means of lungs, the gills are gradually absorbed and the youngsters begin to travel about on land.

I have kept two of these salamanders in a glass tank in the house for two or three years past, with plants and moist moss for shelter. They are very tame, and will eat quantities of earth worms, slugs and insects, but are not very active.—Bangor Commercial.

Playing Out of Doors.

This is the time of year when every man has within him a desire to get out of doors and play. And those who have fewest opportunities to obtain outdoor recreation during the year are very likely to have the play fever in a most virulent form. The sober and dignified man, who sits all day and every day in a sober and dignified office feels that he really must get out somewhere, where the grass is green and the air is clean, and kick his sober heels far toward the sky and release a series of startling whoops from his dignified interior. So, grating that this is the time when people who work desire to play out of doors, is it surprising that the people whose work is called "playing" should also have the fever of spring? Just as the regular indoor workers get the fever, so do the players—and each year more and more of the players are ending their season's work with out-of-door performances.

Submarine and Aeroplane.

We may not be able to make peace between the immediate combatants. They are maddened beyond the reach of prayer, or counsels. Assuredly, the era of universal brotherhood is nowhere in sight. But we can revise and fix anew the laws of war and adjust them to the altered conditions and engineering and compel all parties to respect them. This we can do and ought to do, and the time is ripe for the president to call a congress of every neutral nation to assemble here—at Washington, the capital of the United States of America—Switzerland, Sweden and Norway, Holland, Belgium and Denmark, Argentina, Chile and Brazil—not to protest, not to entreat, but before God and man, to declare that the submarine is a pirate, the aeroplane a brigand, and that the nation employing either shall never again be recognized as a member of the family of nations.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Rosy As a Girl.

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times, was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl." Cardui as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At all druggists.—Advertisement.

Nebular Hypothesis.

The nebular hypothesis, as promulgated by Kant and developed by Herschel, is simply a theory of the formation of the solar system. To Herschel it seemed that he was able to view the actual changes by which the nebula, or glowing vapor, became condensed down into stars, as one can study the growth of the trees in the forest, hut, to quote the Encyclopaedia Britannica, "In attempting to pronounce upon the evidence with regard to Herschel's theory, we must at once admit that the transmutation of a nebula into a star has never been seen." The actual history of the condensation of the oceans from the primeval atmosphere remains perforce vague.

CULTIVATION FOR CORN CROP

Keeping Surface in Fair Condition and Free From Weeds Will Be Found of Greatest Value.

In view of the common belief and practice that corn should be cultivated frequently experiments conducted on an Illinois farm are quite significant.

One field was left uncultivated; on a second weeds were cut with as little disturbance to the soil as possible; on a third cultivation was given in the usual way. The first had almost no crop; the second gave 47.3 bushels of corn; the third 42.9 bushels. In other words, lack of cultivation was better than cultivation provided the weeds were kept down. The reason evidently was that corn, being a surface feeder, was able to get more plant food on uncultivated soil. Similar results were said to have been secured even in dry years.

While experience seems to indicate that abundant cultivation is good for most crops, with corn there is good reason for believing that as shallow and infrequent cultivation as will leave the surface in fair condition and keep the ground free of weeds will be of most value.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

There never has been a time when a newspaper was more needed in the household. The great war in Europe has now entered its second year, with no promise of an end for a long time. These are world-shaking events, in which the United States, witting or unwitting, has been compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field, and the campaign owing to the extraordinary character of the times will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and it pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together one year for $2.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

To the Rescue.

"Here's an item," said the telegraph editor, "about a New York man giving his wife a $50,000 claim. That will make every man's wife in America want something of the kind." "Kill the item," directed the proprietor. "What's the use of running a newspaper if you can't occasionally help your fellow men?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Its already prepared, no mixing or fussing. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. Tested and tried for over 40 years.—Advertisement.

Helpful Hint.

An emergency bag is a very convenient addition to the medicine closet; it should be made of two strips of heavy linen or denim, about six or seven inches deep, the back piece to be made about 18 inches long and the front 27 inches; the two strips should be bound together at the ends and across the bottom, then stitched to form several pockets (eight or nine); a flap should be buttoned over the top and each pocket labeled with indelible ink. One pocket should contain rolls of bandages, another bits of old soft linen, another lint from worn-out napkins; other pockets should be made to hold bottles of arnica, witch-hazel, carbolic, Jamaica ginger, absorbent cotton, a box of healing salve, a piece of castile soap, and one-half dozen fingers cut from old, large kid gloves.

JUST ONE MINUTE LATE

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

All the way up the bay Gregory wondered if she was still alive. The wireless brief had reached him two days out from England and he had sent back word that he was already on the way. He had even half believed that very thing would serve to strengthen her, that he had started before she had sent for him. He had been four months in the prison camps before the exchange had been brought about. Probably she had believed he was dead. Nearly all the poor devils in his crowd had died sooner or later. And he had come out of it with a smashed arm that let him off for awhile from the game over yonder.

He wondered how Barbara had found out he was sailing on the Tavonia. He had only told Lester. Yet the message had been clear and potent: "Come before it is too late. Bab." His arm pained him constantly, and through the long nights he lay in his berth trying to visualize Bab's face and find comfort from it. She had been such a tender little woman, after all her own personal trouble. The only kind thing Kenneth had ever done for her was to die. That had been four years ago, and he and Lester had looked after her interests since then. They had been partners before the war, and he was her brother.

The war had been a relief. At first they had gone over to serve in the Belgian commission. Lester had pulled himself together and got his grip back driving an ambulance there, and he himself had slipped into the Foreign Legion.

When the train pulled into the express station at Seventy-second street he almost stumbled from the car. Gee, but everything looked good after those months in Belgium. He crossed the street and went toward her home in the big apartment building on Central Park West. His fingers were a bit unsteady as he found the bell and pressed it. The door clicked and he went upstairs. And on his way a man passed him going down.

Gregory noticed him vaguely. He was short and stocky and looked prosperous. Even to a casual observer he appeared happy. And as he started past him the man stopped short, took another look at him and called: "Hello, there, Greg."

It was Stephens, his lawyer, good old Steve who had stood back of him over and over again, about the only friend he had had left after the business had gone to the merry puppy dogs. Yet all he could do was grip his hand and ask if Bab were still alive.

"Still alive? What do you mean, old man? Of course, she's alive, but you're one minute too late. She's done it."

"Done what? Married again?"

"Lord, no. Go upstairs and find out. God bless you both. Wonderful woman, Greg. See you later."

Gregory climbed the last flight and she opened the door herself. Not a word did she speak, only held out her arms to him, and somehow he found that it was his head which lay on her shoulder and he was holding her to him in dumb joy.

"I met Stephens. He said I was too late," he said finally when they were in her library.

"You are. I signed the papers myself. Listen and don't scold me. Lester wrote when you got back to England and kept me posted, but he said he thought you'd go back to France if your arm was well enough, and I think you've done quite enough for them already. I need a little of you, you know. So I sent the wireless to head you off, and, anyway, we needed you terribly. You see, I found out after you had been captured all about Lester's trouble and why my balance was safe and yours had gone with him. It had been splendid of you to back him in all his queer ideas anyway, so I went out one day to Jersey and looked over the old factory just as you had left it. You know I studied chemistry with Lester before I was married and it all interested me so. So I just took out part of my money and started in a small way. I told Mr. Stephens what I wanted to do, and he helped me, but I said it was your money. Well, I won out, and began making copper cylinders just as you had intended. So, I—I just paid off the mortgage myself. Mr. Stephens has the check. I think I'm even with you now. It's all over there ready for you to go back to."

Gregory was holding her in his good arm, close to him, his face pressed to her hair.

"Ob, you women, you women who are the regulators!" he said. (Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

To Make Metallic Magnesium. A factory has been established at Niagara Falls for the manufacture of metallic magnesium, which is the lightest metal known, and is said to have many qualities superior to aluminum. The output of the factory has been contracted for by the French government until the end of the war, the material to be made use of in the manufacture of aeroplane parts. After the demand for this purpose has ceased the company will engage in the manufacture of household utensils, and some interesting novelties will be brought out, it is said.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistering just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history to vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an ineffable impression.

HIGH ART

What's in a name? A much discussed question, but we are frank to admit that when we examined the HIGH ART CLOTHES which recently arrived for Spring, we decided that their name "High Art" was more than just a mere title.

It appears to us that their makers have shown consummate skill in the designing of these clothes—and—in the face of a market which is very high, these clothes maintain their usual big value, dollar for dollar.

The HIGH ART designer has particularly proven his skill this season in the production of models for every build, and Strouse & Brothers, their makers, show an indeed beautiful range of woolen and worsted fabrics.

You will like yourself in these clothes and we hope you will see yourself in them, for to try them on is to buy them.

GIRLS LEAP FROM WINDOW

Thrilling Scenes Enacted at Hermitage Hotel Before Movie Camera.

Poised on a ledge high up on the third floor of the Hermitage hotel a girl stood Monday afternoon, and a big crowd that had gathered below when fire engines from headquarters arrived, gasped as they saw smoke pouring out of the window behind her.

For one tense moment she stood there, and then out and down she leaped. With hair flying and whirling clothes the girl's slender form hurtled towards the cement walk below. Certain death seemed her fate to those who had not seen the firemen with their big life net spread out below to catch her. And then before a breath had been taken by the crowd, she was safely caught and the clicking motion picture machine whirled on as another form, this time a boy's, appeared on the ledge.

Thus began Monday afternoon a series of the most daring feats ever witnessed in Nashville, conducted by the "Ruth" moving picture actors. One after another the members of the cast, boys and girls, leaped from the ledge, every one seeming to defy death, until Fire Chief Rozetta ordered the picture halted for fear of accident.

One boy and one girl were considerably jarred by their fall, but no serious injury resulted.

The crowd that had gathered to witness the daring feats, after the one breathless moment when Miss Caroline Minton led off, greatly enjoyed the spectacle.

The wind played havoc with the girls' skirts and the newest striped hosiery was considerably in evidence as they sailed downward.—Nashville Tennessean.

John Rhea's Fling.

Old-timers never tire of telling about an incident that took place during a Democratic State convention that met in Louisville in the early nineties. John S. Rhea, of Logan county, then known as the "Little Giant," the present Circuit Judge of the Ninth judicial district, was a candidate for the nomination of Attorney General. In those days especially the Louisville vote cut a big figure in State conventions, and naturally Rhea went after it and was confident that he had it "sewed up." However, when the balloting was over it developed that the nomination of his opponent had been made possible by Louisville delegates. Mounting the stage for his say, which was expected of every defeated aspirant, Rhea with studied deliberation wound up with, "If I ever run for anything else and need the votes of Louisville, I believe I know how to get them," all the while jingling some silver in his pocket. It is needless to say that Rhea was in disfavor with Louisville Democrats for some time afterward.—Times.

STERLING 9074

Vol. 10 American Clydesdale Stud Book, will stand the ensuing season at my stable three miles south of Hopkinsville on the Clarks-ville pike.

DESCRIPTION: Sterling 9074 is a beautiful mahogany bay, 17½ hands high and weighs when in show condition about 1,700 lbs. He has an abundance of size, is very smooth and handsome and has remarkably fine style and action for a horse of his size.

For quality, individual merit and correct breeding this horse has no superior and his marked ability to reproduce his own splendid qualities on his offspring has made him very popular wherever he has been used.

In the use of this horse we are offering a rare opportunity to those who wish to increase the size of their stock. The market requirements of today are for heavier stock. While the market is continually flooded with small inferior stock there is an insistent demand at a high price for every horse or mule of quality that is offered for sale.

As our horse has a number of colts this spring in various parts of the county we can probably refer you to one of your neighbors who can show you a colt or we will be pleased to show you several colts of his get at our stable.

Our terms are very reasonable considering the high quality of our horse. Terms: $12.50 to insure a mare in foal or $15.00 to insure a live colt. In case mare is traded or sold money becomes due at time of exchange.

For pedigree or other particulars apply at stable.
